ESCH REPORTED TO BE LOSING

Result Of Today's Ballot Shows No Decided Change Except Rumors Of Esch's Defeat.

STEPHENSON HAS TWENTY VOTES

Lenroot Drops Back To Eighteen, One Behind Cooper's Total--Work Done By Both Houses Is Still Very Meagre.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 23.—The same old story is again repeated as regards the United States senatorship—no election. How long this farce will continue is a question. The good natured spirit shown by the lieutenants of the different candidates lead one to believe the whole affair is a farce prepared and planned out long ago. The balloting to go on until the end of the session and no election be made. This will leave the seat vacant, give Wisconsin just one senator and the division of the state pay will be easier to accomplish. It is only a guess but it is more than murmured here these days. According to the state constitution the two houses must meet every day at noon and ball for United States senator until one is elected. This they continue to do and while some smile a smile that means much, others are very much in earnest in their vote and proceed with all solemnity to cast their vote when their name is called.

Angry at La Follette.

It is reported that Isaac Stephenson is provoked with Senator La Follette. That he believes he could come back from his money making western trip and settle this fight for him in his favor if he would. Possibly this is true. Possibly Senator La Follette does not want to come back. No election would mean he was the only representative from the state until his successor was elected. Stephenson has demanded Lenroot to drop out and turn his votes over to him. This is also an impossibility. Lenroot has some votes he could turn over but the majority of his followers would probably go to Hatten or pick up Snodgrass. Besides, if he drops out, he would hurt Lenroot's chances unless he could assure Stephenson his men and get a guarantee that Stephenson would support him two years from now. Cooper and Esch can stay in the fight as long as they want to. Neither has anything to lose. Both are congressmen and both have fairly good chances of re-election a year from now. Unless they should receive the nomination now it is not probable they will be candidates next year at the primaries. They would jeopardize their congressional aspirations.

The Vote
The third ballot of the legislature in joint convention this noon resulted in no material change from the republican caucus of last night, although in comparison with the last joint ballot gains were shown by Stephenson and Esch. The present indications are that all the conservatives and Davidson-Connor people are going to Esch and that the radical supporters of Esch are becoming restless and will soon leave him. On the strength of this indication it seems absolutely assured that Esch cannot be elected.

The Vote
The vote today follows: Esch, 20; Stephenson, 20; Cooper, 18; Lenroot, 17; Hatten, 10; Baensch, 5; Winkler, 3; Hudnall, W. C. Owen, 1; Bird (Dem.), 1; Rummel (social dem.), 5; Thompson (social dem.), 1. Five democrats, Senator Stoddard, a Lenroot man, and Norcross, a Cooper man, were absent.

The Work
The senate worked through a long calendar, advancing several uncontested life insurance bills recommended by the legislative investigating committee. A probable debate on the compulsory vaccination bill resulted in laying that measure over for an amendment. The Lake Michigan-Mississippi river ship canal memorial to congress was concurred in.

The Assembly
The assembly revived the discussion of the proposed binding twin plant at the state prison when J. O. Thomas offered a substitute bill which reduces the amount of the proposed appropriation from $525,000 to $125,000 by eliminating a "revolving fund" of $400,000. Assemblymen Kanderl, Mains, Roycroft and Thomas debated the proposition and on motion by Campbell, a democrat, the measure was laid over for a day.

STRATFORD-ON-AVON HONORS SHAKESPEARE

Three Hundred and Forty-third Anniversary Celebration Less Elaborate Than Formerly.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, April 23.—The three-hundred and forty-third anniversary of the natal day of Shakespeare was joyously observed at Stratford-on-Avon today, and although the celebrations were scarcely on so lavish a scale as in some former years, they were eminently successful. The old-world town was gaily decorated. The charming ceremony of decorating the poet's grave was participated in by several hundred devotees. The mayor, the trustees of Shakespeare's birthplace, members of the Shakespeare club and a number of deputations marched in procession from Holy Trinity church to the grave. The vicar received each wreath separately from the donors and set them in place while the organ played "The Legion of the Atonement and the Light of Love," the traditional melody said to have been Shakespeare's favorite song.

Today Is Senator's Seventy-third Birthday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 23.—In better health and spirits than he has been for several years Senator Chauncey M. Depew quietly observed his seventy-third birthday today. Not the least pleasing event incident to the day was the announcement that the Montauk club of Brooklyn is to resume giving birthday dinners to a senator in pursuance of a custom that the club maintained for a number of years and which remained until last year. At that time the insurance investigation was in progress. The club extended the usual invitation to the senator, but for the first time he declined it. This year the invitation was renewed and announcement is made that the senator has accepted.

MELLODY-SULLIVAN CHAMPIONSHIP "GO"

Boston Boys Will Have Rattling Stiff Mill at Los Angeles This Evening.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Los Angeles, Calif., April 23.—The welterweight championship of the world is the title for which "Honey" Melody of Boston, the present holder, and Mike (Twins) Sullivan, who hails from the same neck of woods, will go battle tonight in the arena of the Pacific Athletic club. In the opinion of close followers of the boxing game the fight should be a rattling affair from start to finish. Sullivan is expected to do his very best to capture the championship title, while Melody will work hard to burnish up his reputation which was somewhat blurred by the rather poor showing he made in his recent six-round go with Joe Thomas at Philadelphia. Though Melody and Sullivan hail from the same part of the country and both have been fighting for a long time it will be the first time the pair have met in the ring. Both have been training faithfully for the bout and according to reports given out today they are in prime condition for the mill. The winner will in all probability be matched to fight Joe Thomas at an early date.

INDIANS FAST BECOMING CIVILEDE--WANT DIVORCES

Titles Of Suits And Names Of Witnesses Make Better Reading Than George Ade
Can Concoct.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Bonesteel, S. D., April 23.—A glance at the calendar of the Gregory county circuit court, which convened for its regular term today, is sufficient to show that there is nothing in the popular belief that the red man is incapable of adopting the white man's ways. No fewer than twenty divorce cases are on the docket in which Indians are the principals. This is regarded as a good record even in South Dakota. It is the first session of the court under the new law which abolished the Indian courts and required that all Indian cases shall be tried by whites.

The complaints would indicate that the Indians apparently have better reason for desiring that their marital bonds be severed than is oftentimes the case with their white brothers and sisters. For instance, James Ghost Walk wants a divorce from his wife Bessie Ghost Walk on the ground that she eloped with Walking Soldier. The facts in the case Ghost Walk expects to prove by Thomas Two Stocks and William Bear. The complainant also asks for the custody of his child, Mollie Three Thighs Ghost Walk.

A case in which the wife is the complainant is that of Alice Good Muskrat who asks for a divorce from her husband Henry, who is charged with eloping with Flora Walks as she eloped with Thomas Two Stocks. The plaintiff wants her maiden name, Alice High Kicker restored.

Another case is entitled Poor Man Star Boy vs. Jennie Star Boy. Poor Man alleges that Jennie ran away from him four years ago and took up her abode with an Indian named Walking Thunder, with whom she is now living. His witnesses in the case will be Three Dogs, Kicks High, and Three Moons.

Kate Belt, after waiting three years for Anthony Belt to return, sues for a divorce and alimony in the shape of a slice of Anthony's land and some of his ponies and blankets. Mule Driver, High Hawk, and Walks Over will be the witnesses for the plaintiff.

Holy Track wants a divorce from Never Stampede, who is alleged to have belied his name by stampeding with Anna Buffalo Pipe. White Belly, Three Toes, and One Tall are expected to prove the facts alleged by Mrs. Holy Track.

One of the most peculiar cases on the docket is that of Josephine Dog Soldier who gives most novel reasons for desiring a divorce from her spouse. She declares that when she was sick Dog Soldier bought a coffin and made preparations for her funeral, and when she got well Dog Soldier became very angry, threatened to shoot her, knocked her leg out of joint and finally drove her away from home. She expects to prove these allegations by Left Handed Thunder, Whistling Crow and Rattling Shield.

Other cases that will be tried before the term of court is ended are those of Picket Pin vs. Mary Picket Pin; James Bull Tail vs. Bear Bull Tail; Helen Turning Bear vs. Fred Left Hand; His Horse Standing vs. White Whirl Wind; and Hall-Fast Horse vs. Fast Horse.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., April 23.—Rev. Father A. B. He has decided that he will not hereafter perform any marriage ceremony between Catholics and non-Catholics unless the person who is not a member of the church takes a course of instruction from him. This does not mean that a non-Catholic must become a member of the church. In explanation of his attitude Father Dunne says that usually such marriages that will be held by taking instruction; the non-Catholic will have explained to them certain things that they would not otherwise understand and which might lead them to make criticisms of the Catholic church.

In the Sporting World

CHICAGO RECRUITS.

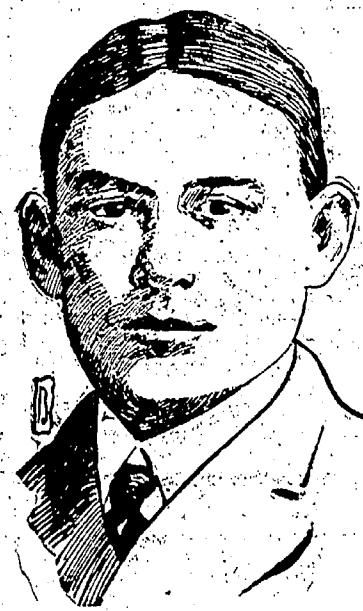

Nationals Trying Out Men of Fame as Minor Leaguers.

CUBS ALSO HAVE MIKE KAHOE

Bill Sweeney, Crack Infielder of the Portland (Ore.) Club, is Highly Thought Of—Two New Outfielders and Two Pitchers.

The Chicago Nationals, champions of their league, are trying out several promising new men as possibilities for the payroll of the Cubs.

The new player held in the highest professional esteem by the club management is Infielder Bill Sweeney, secured from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league. He is unquestionably a good fielder, for men such as

MIKE KAHOE

Connie Mack, Van Halten and other competent judges have said so. But there seems to be some doubt whether he can hit or not.

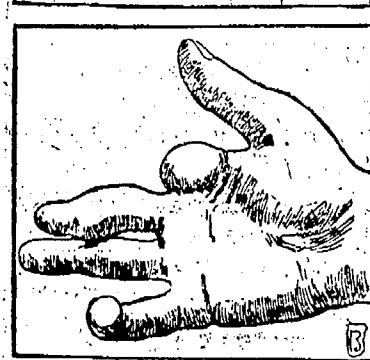

Two new outfielders have been taken south on the training trip. One of them, Newton J. Randall, is one of the best batsmen in the Western league last year, and his work in other departments for the Denver team was high class. Osborne, bought from the Canton team of the Central league, made a name for himself by numerous safe drives off the pitchers in that organization last summer and played clever ball in the field too.

J. W. Seabough is another new man. He is a product of the Western association. His record in that league last season was .273 in batting and .937 as a catcher.

Mike Kahoe can't be figured as a young player to be tried out. Captain Chance knows Kahoe like a book, likes him personally and considers him a pretty fair catcher, plenty good enough to rely on in case of possible injuries to Kilgus and Moran, the two standbys.

Kahoe was bought to fortify the team against accident, and as an emergency catcher he fills the bill. Kahoe is a player of engaging personality and a good fellow to have on a team. Two new pitching candidates are Durbin and Perdue from middle west teams.

A look at the disfigured right hand of Mordecai Brown, the great pitcher of the Chicago Nationals, would cause most fans to doubt that it was the pitching hand of the Cubs' star twirler. The index finger is off at the first joint, and the middle finger crooks at the second joint where the bone ends. The little digit is bent and stiff and short. Brown is credited with having the fastest breaking "curve" ball of any pitcher in the National league, and he thinks the peculiar shape of the middle finger—the pitching finger—is responsible for much of his ability to fool the batsmen. Brown's hand was crippled when he was a child.

MANY SPORTING TOPICS.

Harvard Rowing—Pacific Coast Schoolboy Runner, Kenyon Lee.

Wide interest is shown in the prospects of the Harvard varsity crew. Its victory over Yale last year, one of the few which recent graduates can recall, and its trip to England call particular attention to the eight which Captain Bacon will lead against Yale next June. Six of the eight men who rowed in 1906 will again be candidates for the boat. The hard task will be to choose a new stroke and a new No. 7 to take the places of Filley and Newhall of last year's crew.

It will not be difficult to find men who can occupy those seats, but men as efficient as Filley and Newhall do not appear every day. Filley's personality was a strong factor in the success of his crew, and Newhall, although he had had little experience with a sweep, was in many ways a remarkable 7. Both these men will be missed. The chances are that Morgan, who stroked his freshman crew in 1905, will succeed Filley in the university eight.

Morgan has had experience, and he can drive the men who sit behind him. Four men will probably be considered for Newhall's place—Amberg, who rowed in the freshman eight which Morgan stroked, and Faulkner, Lunt and Severance of last year's freshman crew. Amberg was the best 7, as far as form was concerned, that Harvard has had in a long time. If he is strong enough, he will be the most likely candidate. Faulkner is another good oar. Most of the English critics who saw him last August and September thought he had the best style of all the Harvard oarsmen.

Lunt is in some ways the most effective of all. His form may not be of the best, but he is very strong and enduring. The writer would not be surprised to see all these three candidates outstripped by Severance. He has about the right weight and handles himself well.

Kenyon Lee is a Pacific coast schoolboy, of whom much is expected by westerners who have seen him run. Lee is a member of the track team of the Harvard school of Los Angeles, Cal., and in the recent interscholastic meet won the half mile event in the handiest possible style. The meet was held at Stanford university, Palo Alto, Cal.

Several colleges are trying to convince Lee that each is better than the other, but as yet he has not promised to attend any particular one. He holds two scholastic records and is "touted" as a coming world beater at the half mile.

Lateness in making entries will bar Italian aeronauts from participation in the international balloon race for the Gordon-Bennett cup, to be held in St. Louis in October. Plans are moving rapidly for the big race. General Allen of the war department has offered to furnish soldiers to police the balloon park during the time of the race. Foreign balloons are to be admitted free of duty in bond.

Ernest Barry of Brentford, who stands as the most promising sculler in England, is out with a challenge to George Towns of Australia for the world's English sculling championship. The latter carries with it the Sportsman Challenge cup, valued at $1,000. The stakes are to be $1,000 to $2,500 a side.

The next ocean race of 400 miles for the Challenge cup offered by the Brooklyn Yacht club of New York city will be started on July 4. The course is around Montauk Point, N. Y., thence around Northeast End Lightship, off Cape May, N. J., and thence to a finish line off the Brooklyn Yacht clubhouse at Gravesend bay, New York.

William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., will return from Europe next month, after many conferences with automobile manufacturers and clubs on the subject of road racing, rules, and it is believed that while no radical changes will be made in the rules for the Vanderbilt cup auto race this year there may be a more generous weight allowance.

BASEBALL REVIEW.

Barney Joy, a Star Hawaiian Pitcher, With Frisco Team.

HE MADE GOOD IN PRACTICE.

"Naughty Nick" Altrock of Chicago Americans is in Line For Pitching Championship of His League. This Year, Say the Sharps.

Barney Joy, the first baseball player imported to the United States, has arrived, and has joined the Seals, the San Francisco baseball club of the Pacific Coast league.

Joy is a full-blooded Hawaiian, being born in Honolulu twenty-four years ago. He is a giant, measuring over six feet and weighing 225 pounds. For the past six years he has pitched for the Honolulu Athletic club team in the islands. Joy was recommended to

BARNEY JOY

Manager Danny Long by members of a theatrical troupe who witnessed the Kanaka's work in the box.

The man from the sugar cane plantations arrived in Bakersfield, Cal., recently after a stormy trip on the ocean. He immediately donned a uniform and commenced training with the other members of the team practicing in the city.

The next day in an exhibition game Joy was sent into the box to try out for three innings. The Hawaiian made good.

He struck out the first five men up, fielded the position like a champion and showed all around knowledge of the game. Joy is a south paw, with lightning speed. Charlie Street, who received his delivery, hardly expected any twirler would use such speed thus early in the game.

Manager Danny Long and Captain Kid Mohler were carried away with the elegant showing Joy made in the early games.

In later practice the Honolulu boy batted savagely and ran bases fast for a heavy man.

Organized baseball in Wisconsin will enter upon the season of 1907 with better prospects than ever before in the history of the state. The Wisconsin State league now is an eight club circuit, and it consists of Oshkosh, Madison, Fond du Lac, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Wausau, Green Bay and Freeport, Ill. Hawley will manage the La Crosse team again this year. The season opens May 9, with Oshkosh playing at Madison, Green Bay at Freeport, Fond du Lac at La Crosse and Wausau at Eau Claire. Madison and Fond du Lac are new cities in the league.

Nick Altrock is widely believed to be in line for the premier pitching honors of the American league for this season. Many careful experts state that Nick is the ablest twirler in the entire organization.

NICK ALTROCK IN ACTION.

Anyway, Altrock's work for the Chicago American world's champions last season was of genuine top notch caliber, and it is safe to say he is the chief standby of Captain-Manager Dave Jones.

GOLF REVOLUTION.

That's What Some People Are Working For.

ENGLISHMAN OPENS FRAY.

Strong Pleas For a Revision of the Playing Codes, Now So Technical and Cumbersome as to Confuse All but Experts.

It is not unlikely that this year will be marked by the greatest and most radical changes in golf rules the game has ever known. Two hemispheres are concerned in the "awakening" which soon is to be clothed with the plain cloak of "revolt against cumbersome and complex" rules of golf emanating from St. Andrews, Scotland.

So pronounced and widespread is the criticism over a continuation of the ancient domination of St. Andrews not only over Great Britain and the United States, but the entire world, that the prediction was made by one of America's great students of rules that before long the entire code of golf rules will have been so successfully revised and reduced that they may be printed on the back of an ordinary score card.

"An American code of golf for America" is a slogan that will come up for consideration by the United States Golf association. It is not altogether improbable that the Western Golf association will take some official action upon a new code too. The time has come, say the experts who are not blinded by ancient and slavish worship of everything from St. Andrews, for a simplified code that says what it means and means what it says without hundreds and thousands of words and ambiguous phrases.

That revolt in the old home of golf is an actual, tangible and serious thing is evidenced by the broadside fired at obedience to St. Andrews' rules in English newspapers and magazines. For weeks and months the critics of Great Britain have been busy attacking the complex and ultra cumbersome rules that bear the mark of St. Andrews.

In a recent number of the Golfers' Magazine Editor Craft W. Higgins prints many of these excerpts from the British papers, indicating the feeling of unrest that is growing among the devotees of the "ancient and honorable game" abroad and discusses the formation of a British golf union which will supersede St. Andrews as the ruling body and give to Great Britain for the first time in the history of golf a real national organization.

The magazine editor goes further. He announces for a future number of his publication a tentative "American code of golf," prepared by the president of one of the most prominent of the golf associations of this country, which will be a revelation to those who have long puzzled over the intricacies and ambiguities of the St. Andrews code.

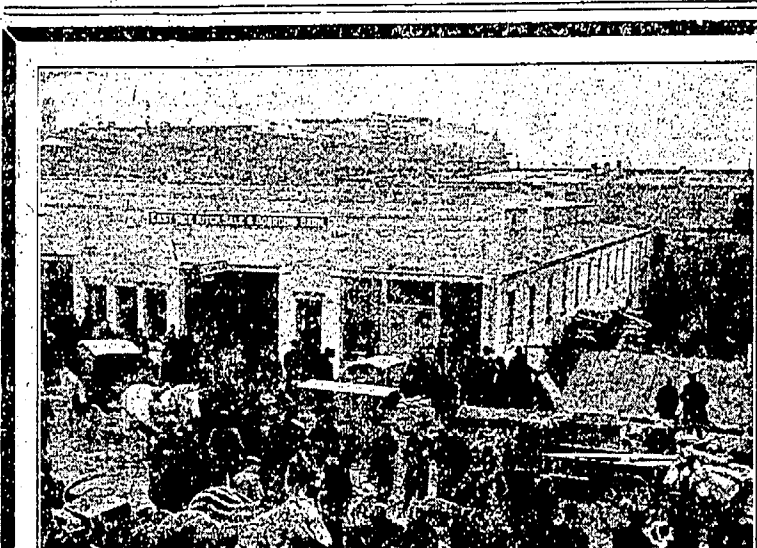

"With a great many golfers of this country in open protest against a continuation of obedience to St. Andrews," continues the editor, "the United States Golf association will be forced to take some action to frame a simple code suitable to American conditions. The time soon may come when the entire code will be so simplified that it may be printed on the back of an ordinary score card, like the well known 'ground rules' that most clubs put on their cards."

"Great golf minds have been at work removing long, conflicting and meaningless phrases, removing sentences—yes, even section after section—of the ancient code and accomplishing what Auld Tam Morris or some other rock ribbed adherent of St. Andrews would declare was 'impossible.'"

"Golf is for busy men in most cases in this country, and they will welcome a code that they can master while going out on the train to their golf courses. In this country the protest is not a 'reform movement,' but a declaration that the present rules should be put into a melting pot and recast, not reformed."

KICKERS' KOLUM.

Kickers' Column: There is much just complaint about the dangerous condition of a piece of sidewalk leading from the rink to the hotel. I attend the West Side theatre and notice people stumbling quite often on this wretched and much neglected piece of walk. It is a much troubled by the people. It has been neglected for years; also the eaves overhanging the sidewalk 14 or 15 inches, and in rainy weather drop on the people passing under. Where is the sidewalk inspector? Is it because the tenant and administrator are rich men that he so neglects his duty to the public. Immediate attention is requested. PRO BONO PUBLICO.

CRY OF UNEMPLOYED RAISED IN LONDON

DISCHARGED MEN MARCH FROM WOOLWICH ARSENAL.

MAKE BITTER COMPLAINT

Deputation Sees the Premier and War
Secretary But Receives Nothing More Substantial Than Sympathy.

London, April 23.—The "cry of the unemployed" was raised in London again Monday night when several thousand skilled workmen who had been discharged from Woolwich arsenal as an outcome of War Secretary Haldane's scheme of reducing military expenses marched with bands and banners the long distance from Woolwich to the house of commons to impress their grievances upon the government.

The complaints of the men are far-reaching, representing not only loss of employment, but the wiping out of their savings invested in little properties located in the historical and heretofore prosperous town of Woolwich.

Procession Is Orderly.
Some of the discharged men had been employed in the arsenal at Woolwich for not less than 30 years. A number of printers and other tradesmen, laborers and citizens joined the procession, which was further augmented by a strong body of workers from the army clothing factory at Pimlico. The entire eight miles of march was thickly lined with spectators.

The procession, which was perfectly orderly, was halted at St. George's circle, one mile from the houses of parliament, and from there a deputation of picked men proceeded to the house of commons to lay the grievances of themselves and their comrades before Premier Campbell-Bannerman.

Premier Is Sympathetic.
The premier received the deputation in a private room, War Secretary Haldane and Baron Tweedmouth, first lord of the admiralty, being present. William Crooks, member of the house of parliament for Woolwich, introduced the deputation and the men explained their grievances. The premier made a sympathetic reply, and assured the men of the government's anxiety that the inevitable discharges should entail as little hardship as possible.

Secretary Haldane then explained the necessity of the reduction in military expenditure and the need of bringing things down from the inflated position which obtained during the late war. He said there must be even further reductions, but promised that every scrap of work possible would be given to Woolwich. Lord Tweedmouth then promised to do whatever was possible in behalf of the navy department, and the deputation withdrew.

VALUES MINNESOTA ROADS

SENATE COMMITTEE PUTS THE

Finds Earnings on This Basis Are 18
Per Cent.—Chicago's Great Western Scored.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—Railroad property in Minnesota is valued at $215,000,000 by the Sundberg investigating committee, which returned its report to the Minnesota state senate Monday. This is approximately $27,000,000 a mile.

The property is capitalized to the extent of about $400,000,000, or $50,000 a mile on an average. The net earnings, according to the committee's findings, averaged over $5,000 a mile last year, or 18 per cent. on the committee's valuation.

The committee, which consists of Senators Sundberg, Cushman, Canestorp, Nelson and Sageng, recommends that a committee or commission of three be empowered to investigate generally into the capitalization of the railroads of Minnesota and the relation the stocks and bonds bear to the value thereof, and the enactment of such appropriate legislation as the conditions disclosed demand.

The report says that to arrive at the cost of reproducing and equipping the different lines in their present condition the committee considered: "First, the original cost of construction; second, the cost of improvements, betterments and equipment added since; third, the cost and character of the lines recently built; fourth, the expense of operating and the earnings under existing rates; fifth, the stocks and bonds and the value and water thereof; sixth, the geography of the line and the judgment displayed in its location."

A large section of the report is devoted to a drastic review of the Chicago Great Western. This road, it says, "was built by A. B. Stickney, who raised the funds by acquiring, organizing, reorganizing and harmonizing divers and sundry corporations of Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois." The capital stock and funded debt of the road is $143,668 per mile, and the committee figures it valued at about one-fifth that, or $28,733 a mile. In its last report the company certifies that line and equipment cost $98,011 per mile, and in detail of its statement there is an item, "purchase constructed road $66,994.63 per mile." This would mean $50,000,000 for the whole line. In 1891 there was reported for "purchase of constructed roads $6,313,912.5." It was then 315 miles long. "Fifteen years later," says the committee, "this elastic item had been stretched to $50,504,344.28, but the whole line had shrunk 60 miles in length. It had been watered too much."

'LORD BARRINGTON' TO DIE FOR CRIME

FEDERAL SUPREME COURT DECIDES AGAINST HIM.

HE SLEW JAMES P. McCANN

Prisoner, Who Claimed an English Title, Greatly Depressed by the News That He Must Hang.

Washington, April 23.—In an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller, the supreme court of the United States Monday dismissed the case of Frederick Seymour, alias "Lord Barrington," under sentence of death in St. Louis for the murder of James P. McCann in June, 1903, thus affirming the decision of the supreme court of Missouri and sustaining the verdict of guilty returned by the trial court.

This case has been before the public for several years, and has attracted great attention, largely because of Barrington's pretense of bearing an English title, under which shortly before the tragedy with which his name is connected he married a young woman of good family residing at Kansas City.

Made a Hard Fight.
Barrington made a vigorous fight in the St. Louis courts, contending that his conviction was the result of prejudice and that the charge was not sustained by proof. When the Missouri supreme court decided against him he brought the case to the federal supreme court on a writ of error, contending that his trial had not been fair.

Prisoner Is Depressed.
St. Louis, April 23.—When the information concerning the United States supreme court's decision, sustaining the verdict of guilty of the murder of James P. McCann rendered by the trial court, was conveyed to "Lord" Frederick Seymour Barrington, who is confined in the county jail at Clayton, Barrington was apparently greatly depressed but endeavored to conceal his feelings.

"I expected the decision Monday," he said, "and I had a feeling that the ruling of the court would be against me. I suppose this is the last resort. As I see it, there is nothing left but the fixing of the date of execution by the Missouri supreme court. The United States supreme court passed only on a question of jurisdiction. It seems hard that a man's life should be taken away on a mere technicality like that."

Prosecuting Attorney Johnston of St. Louis said: "As soon as the mandate of the United States supreme court is placed on record here, the state supreme court will fix the date of the execution. That is all that remains to be done."

TAFT BACK IN WASHINGTON.

Secretary of War Returns from His Caribbean Trip.

Washington, April 23.—Secretary of War Taft and party arrived at the Washington navy yard on board the Mayflower Monday night after an absence of exactly a month on a trip that included Panama, Cuba and Porto Rico. The secretary and Mrs. Taft were immediately driven to their residence.

Former Governor of Porto Rico Beekman Winthrop and Mrs. Winthrop were guests of the secretary on the return trip. The others in the party included Representatives Burton of Ohio, and DeArmond of Missouri, Senator Kittredge of South Dakota, and Miss Margarie Ide.

"Unwritten Law" Bobs Up Again.
St. Louis, April 23.—Fifty-three men out of a venire of 100 summoned for the trial of Policeman Michael J. McNamara, charged with murder for killing his wife and John J. Brophy, her paramour, August 23, 1906, were excused Monday by Circuit Judge Sale after they had sworn they believed in the "unwritten law."

One Year for Attempt to Kill.
New York, April 23.—William T. Davidge, an actor who several weeks ago tried to kill Miss Rosalie D. Wilbert, a trained nurse, when she refused to marry him, was sentenced Monday to serve one year in jail.

Sues an Insurance Company.
New York, April 20.—Reuben O. Scovill, of Kankakee, Ill., charging fraud and extortion and declaring that the Mutual Reserve Insurance company is actually insolvent to the extent of more than $2,500,000, has begun suit in the United States circuit court for an accounting in equity against the company, asking that it be placed in the hands of a receiver. The papers in the case were served on Secretary Camp Friday and the company must answer before June 1.

Luther Burbank sold five leaves of spineless cactus for enough to build him a new home. The cactus with the thorns eliminated by intelligent cultivation has great possibilities as a forage crop in arid districts, and the five leaves sold by the great scientist of the plant world went to a foreign government for propagation purposes.

GIMBEL'S BODY IS GIVEN TO FAMILY

RICH MERCHANT SUCCEEDS IN KILLING HIMSELF.

DIES TO AVOID DISGRACE

Had Been Arrested in New York on Boy's Accusation and Tried to Bribe Detectives.

New York, April 23.—The body of Benedict Gimbel, the Philadelphia merchant who died in St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, was taken to Philadelphia Monday afternoon.

The coroner was called to the hospital, but as the case was plain, a certificate of death giving suicide as the cause was given and the body was turned over to the family.

Gimbel died about three o'clock Monday morning. His wife was with him and his two brothers, who came here at once on receiving word of his trouble—one from Milwaukee and the other from Philadelphia. His personal physician, summoned from Philadelphia, also was at his bedside.

Sensational Arrest Made.
The arrest of Benedict Gimbel, a man of wealth, member of a prominent and prosperous firm, married, and of hitherto spotless reputation, caused great surprise. Thursday afternoon he was taken from a cab in this city while in company with Ivor Clark, a 16-year-old boy, by two detectives, who acted on the complaint of Clark's parents. Gimbel, according to the detectives, resorted to an attempt at bribery and offered the detectives $2,000 if they would release him. The detectives apparently consented, and, demanding cash, were driven with Gimbel to his bankers' office here and given $2,000. They then informed Gimbel that the additional charge of attempted bribery would be placed against him and took him to the district attorney's office, where, it is alleged, Gimbel, who keenly felt his predicament, offered Assistant District Attorney Krotel any amount of money to gain his release.

Seeks Death; Not Home.
Later Gimbel was released in heavy bail and started ostensibly for his home in Philadelphia. He never reached there. Instead he went to the Palace hotel in Hoboken and there, with jagged glass, obtained from a water pitcher which he broke, he cut his throat and gashed his left wrist. He was discovered several hours afterward, almost dead from the loss of blood.

At St. Mary's hospital, to which place the patient was removed Friday night, it was thought for a time that his life might be saved, but yesterday he began suddenly to fail and late last night hope was abandoned.

No Change in Corporation.

Philadelphia, April 23.—In connection with the death of Benedict Gimbel in Hoboken Monday the following statement was made by Gimbel Brothers, Incorporated: "Gimbel Brothers is a corporation managed by the seven brothers, deceased being the youngest of the number and owning a small minority block of the stock. His demise will have no more effect on the business than the death of any one director of a railroad."

Stolen Bonds Recovered.
Part of Douglass' Alleged Plunder Found in Manhattan Club.
New York, April 23.—A portion of the bonds alleged to have been taken from the Trust Company of America by William C. Douglass, who is under arrest on a charge of larceny, were recovered Monday in an apartment in the Manhattan club.

It was stated Monday afternoon that Mrs. Douglass had disappeared and her friends became exercised over her absence. She was found at night, however, at the home of her parents in Brooklyn. There were rumors of possible additional arrests but the detectives denied they had taken any action.

ALFANO TO BE DEPORTED.

Leader of Camorra Will Be Sent Back to Italy.

New York, April 23.—Enrico Alfano, alleged leader in Italy of the secret and criminal Camorra society of Naples, who was arrested in this city last week during a police raid on the East side, was turned over Monday to the immigration authorities, by whom he will be deported to Italy.

Bluffs at Winona on Fire.
Winona, Minn., April 23.—Fires are threatening the property at Sugar Loaf, a suburb of Winona. The bluffs on the Minnesota side of the river are burning fiercely and a vast area has been swept. Woodlawn cemetery was partly destroyed by fire.

Former Judge Kills Himself.

SMALL BOY KEPT BUSY.

Just a Few Questions He Asked in a Short Period.

The capacity of the average small boy for asking questions is practically unlimited, but it is doubtful whether more searching inquiries have ever been made by a boy than those propounded by a youngster to his father, who had taken him for a steamer trip.

Here is a partial list:
"Is that water down there any wetter than the water in the Atlantic ocean?"

"What makes the water wet?"
"How many men could be drowned in water as deep as that?"

"Is that big man with the gold buttons on his coat the father of all those men who do whatever he tells them to?"

"Where do all those soapbuds behind the boat come from?"
"Could a train go as fast on the water as this boat?"—Chums.

Diplomacy.

"Listen," said the girl as the woman came in from the party at three o'clock in the morning and stood at the head of her bed. "Do you hear her sob, the woman above? She has been sobbing like that for an hour. Now, listen to his big, gruff voice stirring at her."

"I'll put a stop to that," the woman declared, as she hurried out of the flat on up stairs.

"Well," said the girl, when she had come down again, "what did you do? Threaten him with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Wives?"
"Not at all," said the woman. "I simply rang his bell and asked him if there was something I could do for his wife. Wasn't she ill? We could hear her crying beneath in our bedroom. I told him. He thanked me and said there was nothing I could do, but you don't hear any more sobbing, do you?"

GUNS IN A NATIONAL SALUTE.

Twenty-One in This Country and England, but Different Elsewhere.

The question as to why the national salute consisted of 21 guns was put to one of the classes at Washington preparing young men for the entrance examinations for West Point and Annapolis and, strange to say, not one of the embryonic generals or admirals "hit the nail on the head."

The "coach," who knows American history away down underneath, furnished the information that the national salute, which is the international salute—that is, the salute given to a national flag—is fixed by army regulations at 21 guns and that the number appears to have been in conformity to the custom of foreign nations at the time when the number was so fixed.

The first record of a national salute is in army regulations of 1812, which is in conformity to the number of states comprising the union, then 18, but in 1818, a new regulation was made fixing the number at 21, which was at that date the number of states in the union and which was at the same time in accordance with the king's regulations (Great Britain), which fixed 21 guns to be fired as a salute on the anniversary days of the birth, accession and coronation of the king, the birth of the queen, the restoration of Charles II and the gunpowder treason.

At that date the national salute in France was also fixed at 21 guns, to be fired only on Corpus Christi day and on the king's birthday.

It is proper to remark, however, that the national salute of 21 guns at the present time appears to be peculiar to the United States and Great Britain, inasmuch as the national salute of France is 101 guns; of Germany 33 guns, and that the superlative salute in the United States is that on the Fourth of July of one gun for each state in the union and it is called the salute to the union.

Not a drop of Alcohol

Doctors prescribe very little, if any, alcohol these days. They prefer strong tonics and alteratives. This is all in keeping with modern medical science. It explains why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is now made entirely free from alcohol. Ask your doctor. We have no secrets! We publish J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., the formulas of all our preparations.

TIME TO CALL A HALT

The railroads of the country have been, and are today, a by-word. They are subject to all sorts of attacks from all sorts of people. These conditions have prevailed so long and have become so acute, that the national government, as well as state legislatures have become involved, and the welfare of one of the greatest industries in the country is imperiled.

Much of this false sentiment has been created by a class of irresponsible agitators and writers, through fanatical appeals to prejudice and ignorance. The great mass of the American people have no grievance against the railroads of the country, and have no disposition to fight them, and yet their representatives today are engaged in a warfare which can but result in harm not only to the roads but to every line of industry as well.

Realizing the gravity of the situation, and in an effort to counteract some of the evil influences, the railway supply manufacturers represent more than 400 corporations and factories, and employing 225,000 men have just signed and issued the following plain statements of facts, addressed to "the American people." Every line of it is worth reading and carefully considering.

There is not a streak of yellow in the petition. It bristles with hard cold facts and should appeal to every candid mind. Read it:

Fact 1. Business has been, and is prosperous. There is apparently no commercial reason why we should not enjoy a continuance of such prosperity unless, some unnecessary conditions intervene.

Fact 2. The national government has been and is investigating the railroads. The state legislatures have pending 400 bills, none of which is for the benefit of the railroads, but every one of which is designed to reduce in some way the net earnings of the roads. Many village and town authorities are passing ordinances which interfere with the operation of the roads and reduce their revenues. The public press has given wide circulation to all of this agitation and in many instances approved the same.

Fact 3. The railroads are stopping all unnecessary expenditures for this year. For instance, one road has stopped construction on 700 miles of new track; another has cut its expenditures $5,000,000 and stopped work on 400 miles of track in addition. Many roads have issued instructions to use stocks on hand and not buy anything for six months, except to meet great emergencies. Furthermore, railroads generally have stopped all plans for expenditures for 1908. No new orders are now being placed by the roads for next year.

We, the undersigned, in view of the above facts, call public attention to the present situation. We are the nearest to the railroads, and therefore, know the situation, and are the first to be affected. At present business is good on old orders, but we believe that business will be bad unless this agitation is stopped.

"We know that if present conditions continue, all classes of labor and every business interest will be injured. We know that every manufacturer, every jobber and every retailer in the United States does business directly, or indirectly, with railroads, or their officials and employees. We know that the railroad interest is next to farming, the largest in the country. We know that when railroads begin to economize it seriously affects every other business. We know that under such conditions labor will suffer very greatly, and that men will be seeking employment."

"We believe that now is the time to act, before the damage is done, and that every man who reads this should act. If 10 per cent of the men in the United States would today write to the governors of the states in which they live, and to their representatives in the state legislatures, stating that this agitation was injuring their business and that it must be stopped, it would be stopped. Every one of these public servants would listen, because every writer is a voter."

"We do not object to the regulation of the railroads by the national government in the proper manner, but we do object to going through a period of hard times, similar to that between 1893 and 1897, in order to accomplish alleged railroad reform. The situation is serious. Immediate action is necessary or business will diminish; bank accounts will be reduced; profits will disappear; salaries will be cut; wages decreased; men discharged and thousands will be looking for work. Every laboring man, every business man, every professional man, in fact, every man, is and will be affected. He should act now."

themselves. The crisis is new and extremely dangerous. It remains to be seen whether the good advice will be heeded.

The Gazette is devoting some space to the defense of the railroads against unjust and erratic legislation. It does not follow that the paper is subsidized, or in any way obligated to railway interests. The only sort of transportation the papers enjoy this year is purchased with the coin of the realm, for sale for cash at all stations. The papers are simply defending the underdog in the fight as a matter of justice.

The laws of the land, whether national, state or municipal, are for the protection of the people. If they are unjust or burdensome, the best way to find it out is to enforce them. An inoperative law is a dead letter, and worse than useless.

There are several dark horses running loose around the state, who might be induced to submit to the senatorial halter. The legislature may find it necessary to take to the woods and hunt up some new recruits. The men now in training seem to have reached the end of their rope, and it isn't very long at that.

If Stephenson and Lenroot should combine the same 13-14-15 puzzle would be up for solution, with no pitch hole. But what's the use of dreaming?

The next senator will be some man from Wisconsin. That's a safe proposition and largely non-committal.

Most Common Proper Names.

Census returns show that the most common proper names in the world are, largely the same, regardless of the country where they are found. Change in the form of pronunciation of the name does not necessarily mean a different name. In England and Wales the 15 most common names are: Smith, Jones, Williams, Taylor, Davies, Brown, Thomas, Evans, Roberts, Johnson, Wilson, Robinson, Wright, Wood and Thompson. In the other named. In Scotland they are: Smith, McDonald, Brown, Thompson, Robertson, Stewart, Campbell, Wilson, Anderson, Scott, Miller, McKenzie, Reid, Ross, McKay. In Ireland: O'Neill, O'Brien, Byrne, Connor, O'Neill, Reilly, Doyle, McCarthy, Gallagher, Doherty and Kennedy. In the United States the names differ somewhat in the different cities, but on the whole they are very similar.

Eclipsed.

The stranger from the east was surprised. "Why," he exclaimed, as he stepped from the train in the South Dakota settlement, "the Indians around here look so calm and peaceful. I thought they considered themselves 'bad'." "Walk with me, you pard," drawled Amber Pete. "They used to consider themselves bad, but since they have had a peek at some of the paleface folks in the divorce colony they have taken a back seat."

Cat Fixes Right Time.

A woman received a telephone call one morning last week from a woman friend asking her the time of day. The friend telephoned back it was 10 a. m., whereat the other explained that her clocks were all at 9:30, which she knew was wrong, as her pet cat had just washed its face, which it did every morning precisely at ten. Hereafter the woman proposes to regulate her clocks by the cat's ablutions.

GARDENS FOR THE WORKERS.

Self-Help Movement in France Proving a Great Success.

"The great value of my little garden to me has not been the fine vegetables it has yielded all summer, and the good time the children have had in the open air, but the glasses of beer and absinthe my husband hasn't taken," observed the mother of a French workman's rather numerous family, to an investigator last autumn. "Quite right, mother," echoed a man nearby; "you will never know the evil we men don't do while we are busy in our little gardens."

This conversation took place in France, on one of the workmen's gardens, a movement for self-help which is growing each year, says a writer in the Century. A similar movement was started in Detroit in 1894 under the name of the Pot Patch farms; later carried out successfully in New York and other cities in the vacant lot farms, while today Philadelphia is beginning her eighth year of successful effort.

Mme. Hervieu, a charitable woman in Sedan, tired of aiding the poor by gifts of money, attempted to rouse them to self-help by an offer of doubling any sum of money which they should deposit in the local savings bank. She rented a small tract of land and said to the poor people: "Now go to work."

They did, and as they worked the taste for it grew; they kept steadily at it, especially as they knew that the fruits of their labor would belong to them, that the vegetables they raised could be taken to their homes or sold.

Such was the humble beginning in 1899 of a little movement, but one so simple and practical that it grew until last October, in Paris, there was held a congress of workmen's gardens, attended by 700 delegates, under the presidency of M. Ayzard of France.

Mayor as Bell Ringer.

The following story is told in Paris of a village priest and a mayor. In a village in the department of the Ain the cure was his own church warden. For want of money the church was abandoned, and for many days the villagers heard no Angelus when working in the fields at daybreak, at noon, and in the evening. The mayor, a retired gendarme, an ardent radical, missed the cure and the chiming as much as any other villager, and when the cure had been gone a week he began to ring the bells. One night recently the village was roused by the notes of the Angelus. It was no call to mass, still less a fire alarm; it was a mistake of the mayor. The moon, breaking through the clouds, just before going down, had brought him from his bed thinking it was sunrise. And now he is awaiting a letter from the prefect reproaching him, and perhaps revoking him for having rung the church bells before sunrise.

While They Waited.

The occasion was that of a fashionable wedding.

The hour set for the ceremony was eight o'clock, and the church was filled, but the bride party did not arrive upon the scene until nearly nine. The organist filled in the time by playing such pieces of appropriate music as happened to be at hand, most of them several times over, and when he had exhausted these he began to improvise.

"Grinders," said one of the vestrymen, after the ceremony was over and the congregation had gone, "I have been puzzling my brains over that thing you played just before the bride and groom came. There was a familiar strain that ran through it, but your variations effectually disguised the theme. What was it?" "I'll tell you," answered the organist, "if you won't say anything to the preacher about it. It was 'Waiting at the Church.'"

PINE TREE BIRDS' SHELTER.

Where Feathered Wanderers Sleep in Winter Partly Explained.

In zero weather, when the night is pitch dark and there is a piercing wind driving a biting snow, perhaps you have wondered, as I have, to think how the little wild birds could manage to sleep and not freeze nor be covered up with the snow.

One stormy winter night while walking through Central park, New York city, I partly answered the question. A branch of a large pine tree swung close to and a little above a street lamp. The branch and its twigs were quite free from snow, the dense leaves or "needles" forming a roof above them and catching the snow which had quickly filled up the spaces between the slender leaves. Here and there under the most cozy looking of the leaf clusters was a little group of English sparrows, looking as comfortable as could be.

They were somewhat disturbed by my pausing to watch them and a few left to find a perch on some higher branch. Probably there were scores of these sparrows in this tree, for I was able to examine only the branch near the light. Who knows but that every pine in the park and many at one in the woods as well is a veritable tenement for the birds?—St. Nicholas.

Mail Delivered at Churches.

"That seems a tremendous big bunch of mail to be delivered at a church," remarked an early caller to the sexton.

"A good deal of it belongs to the parishioners," he explained. "I do not mean to the regular worshippers, but to persons who drop in for an occasional service. They are mostly comparative strangers in town. When leaving home they have no idea what they will do or where they will be located, so in order to relieve the anxiety of their friends they give instructions to send their mail to some church of which they have heard. The mere fact that the wanderers have to call at such a place once or twice a week for letters is considered a guaranty of their safety. The pastors welcome such an arrangement. It may be an additional responsibility to take care of the letters, but it keeps them in touch with many strangers who otherwise probably would not go near a church."—N. Y. Sun.

Originators of Slang.

It is estimated that more than one-half of all the slang in current use has emanated from New York city, and an observer says that college boys and girls are responsible for more of it than are the boys and girls of the Bowery.

Had Fame Thrust Upon Him.
There is one man in New York who has unintentionally achieved fame, says the New York Press. For some reason known only to himself he instructed the telephone company to omit his address from the directory. His name and telephone number are there, but the street and house number of that particular phone are missing. He is the only man in the city who has so distinguished himself, and perfect strangers, when stumbling across that peculiar omission, have their curiosity aroused thereby and besiege the information bureau of the company with inquiries as to the address of that over-cautious man of whose very name they were probably hitherto ignorant.

CONVERSATIONALLY.

"I think one ought to come up and see you a few times before having their dental work done," said a lady patient the other day.

She meant for them to get used to the office and the dentist in order to get over the condition of dread and fright which many people work themselves into when they think they have to go to the dentist.

This was her second visit to Dr. Richards and she had just had several bad teeth extracted.

She was greatly pleased to find how easy Dr. Richards made it for her. And wondered that she ever could have feared the experience so much.

"Didn't hurt you?" said the husband.

"No, not enough to mention," said she.

That's the way it goes every day in Dr. Richards' office.

Patients fearful and timid. Timidity finally removed. Dental work finished.

Patients amazed at the freedom from pain.

Patients thankful and express their gratitude.

TWO BALL TEAMS IN LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Rusk Lyceum and Forum to Become Athletic as Well as Literary Rivals.

Members of the two boys' literary societies at the high school, the Rusk Lyceum and the Forum, have the baseball fever along with every other boy and man in the United States. They wanted to have a school nine, but as scarcely no other schools in this section of the country expect to have teams it will be impossible to get games. Then the proposition of inter-school contests was launched and it is very likely that a series of games will be arranged, making the two organizations athletic as well as literary rivals.

REDEMPTION OF THE UNSIGHTLY BACK-LOT

And the City Beautiful Will Be the Subject of Splendid Free Stereoscopic Lecture under Twilight Club Auspices Friday Night.

The Twilight Club invites the general public to attend a stereoscopic lecture on the redemption of the back yard and the City Beautiful at the Congregational church Friday evening. The lecture is to be delivered by E. S. Thompson of Dayton, Ohio, who will tell in a graphic manner of the transformation of ugly shanties and hovels into vine embowered and beautiful homes of men. For fifteen years the National Cash Register Co. has been fostering this work of improvement among the employees of its factory and a collection of surpassing pictures, showing the gradual transition which has taken place under the hands of professional and amateur landscape gardeners, has been assembled as the work progressed. These pictures attracted much attention at the St. Louis exposition, were witnessed by a large and appreciative audience in Milwaukee last evening, and will be brought here Friday night. The story of how a little enterprise and enthusiasm, coupled with an almost neglectable item of expense, transformed a squalid area of a city into a desirable and valuable residence quarter, will be of value here by reason of the many suggestions it will offer of simple ways and means and methods of banishing the unsightly back lot, wall, and fence, and making the humblest home a place on which the eye can linger with delight. The civic improvement propaganda is practical and utilitarian in its methods and achievements; even though the arousing and gratification of man's innate love of the artistic is its principal aim, and no one should miss this helpful and inspiring lecture.

Apology Well Worded.

Somewhat like the charges of "graft" against the American city councils was a recent case at Tunbridge Wells, England. A member of the council asserted that a fellow member was not fit to clean the boots of the council. Called upon to withdraw this statement, he said: "I withdraw, and say that the council is fit to clean the boots of the council."

Reflections of the Mind.

There is no question about it; if you have mean, narrow, ill-humored notions inside your head, they're dead sure to strike through to the surface, and stamp your face with ugliness.

The trains, which came from Baraboo, consisted mostly of empty cars, only the parade wagons and paraphernalia not needed in Chicago, being carried. The trains will be transferred to the Illinois Central lines, on which they will be loaded and the season's tour begun. SUSAN A. DICKENS SECURED DIVORCE

From Former Husband, George B. Dickens, in Circuit Court This Morning.

In circuit court this morning the closing arguments were made in the divorce action of Mrs. Susan A. Dickens vs. George B. Dickens, brought on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and slanderous talk. Some of the testimony bordered on the sensational. Judge Grimm found for the plaintiff and granted the decree. The couple were married on the 15th of February, three years ago, in Madison and the former wife has been a resident of Janesville for two years past. The ex-husband is watchman at the Janesville Machine Co.'s plant.

Of Arabic Derivation.

"Zephyr" and "cipher" and "zero" are words that come to the English from the Arabic "sifr," which meant literally "empty," and so "nothing," and the figure that represents nothing. In medieval Latin this figure was called both "ciphera" and also "zephyrum," the latter probably from association with "zephyrus," or something even lighter than air. Hence, through the Italian "zefiro," there is the word "zero," as a doublet with "cipher."

INTERMENT TODAY IN POTTERS' FIELD

Sons of Late George Leopold Reconsidered Request That Body Be Sent East.

The remains of the late George Leopold, recovered from the river on Sunday, were buried in the potters' field at the cemetery at four o'clock this afternoon in accordance with instruction contained in a message Sheriff I. U. Fisher received today from one of his sons residing in Pennsylvania. Last night the son who lives in Bradford telegraphed that he had deposited $35 with one of the express companies and asked that the body be sent east. The sheriff telegraphed back that it would cost considerably more than that; owing to the terrible condition of the body and the necessity for a metal lined casket, in reply the son sent word asking that burial be made here at the smallest possible expense.

CORINNE, OF "FORTY-FIVE MINUTES FROM BROADWAY" COMPANY

The approaching engagement in this city of Geo. M. Cohan's most recent and most successful music play, "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," at the Myers theatre Friday, April 26, is looked forward to by local theatre-goers as one of the most important events in the year's theatrical calendar. The production of this noteworthy success is made under the direction of Klav & Erlanger which means nothing to be desired in cast and a perfect scenic setting. The cast is headed by Corinne, one of the most popular stars in America.

Corinne's progress up the ladder of stage fame has been attended by hard, conscientious work. She made her debut when five years of age in R. M. Field's company at the Boston museum, supported by a number of people who have since "made good" on the stage, including Fritz Williams, who was Sir Joseph, and Ida Conquest, who was Corinne's understudy.

At the close of a hundred-night run, Mrs. Jennie Kimball organized a juvenile "Pinafore" company and toured the country, Frank Daniels being the Dick Deadeye of the cast. At six years of age Corinne was a full fledged star of an organization known as "Corinne Merry-makers," Frank Daniels, Bob and Dan Daly and Leila Farrell being among her stage associates. Between seven and twelve years of age Corinne was singing the leading roles in "The Mascot," "Grand Duchess" and other light opera at the head of a company of which her mother was manager. She was later starred in "Arcadia," "Monie Griso, Jr.," and "Hendrick Hudson," subsequently appearing in "Baccaccio," "Little Trooper" and "Little Host." Last season Corinne was leading support to the Rogers brothers. She was selected by Mr. Cohan as particularly suited to the role of "Mabel," in which character she has made one of the most pronounced hits in her entire career. She is surrounded by a company of unusual excellence and one of the famous Cohan ensembles.

TO USE PRISONERS FOR TEST.

Negroes at New Orleans Will Be Fed Sugar Molasses.

New Orleans, April 23.—Announcement, was made Monday night that nine negro inmates of the Parish jail will be used by the state board of health in a five weeks' test to learn whether sugar molasses, as it has been many times in Louisiana for many years, is injurious to human health. Sulphuric acid is used in the Louisiana process and the use of this chemical was stopped recently under an interpretation of the pure food law. The experiment consists in feeding the negroes plenty of molasses and making blood tests.

President Iron of the state board said that no possible harm could come to the negroes. Although the Washington authorities are not participating in the experiment, Dr. H. W. Riley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, is watching it with interest.

GONDOLF HELD IN $20,000 BAIL.

Arrested in Connection with the New Britain Defalcation.

New York, April 23.—Charles F. Gondolf, who was arrested last week in connection with the search for the missing bonds believed to have been taken by William F. Walker, the fugitive treasurer of the savings bank of New Britain, Conn., was held in $20,000 bail Monday in the Jefferson Market court.

The superintendent of a detective agency in this city which has been looking for William F. Walker, said Monday that the trail was getting warm and that his men were following a clew which looked good. The trail at present, he indicated, is outside this country, and if a capture is made the United States government will be asked to institute extradition proceedings. The detective declined to say to what country the clew led.

Fire Frightens Hotel Guests.

Chicago, April 23.—A fire which generated smoke enough to fill the corridor and rooms in nearly all the buildings in the neighborhood of Van Buren street and Wabash avenue, and which caused excitement in the Auditorium hotel, the Fine Arts building and the Hotel Rensselaire, partly destroyed the W. A. Gies building at 296-300 Wabash avenue Monday afternoon. Several firemen were injured and surface car traffic was stopped for two hours. The loss was estimated at $150,000.

Denver Wants a Convention.

Denver, Col., April 23.—An effort will be made to secure one or both of the national conventions of the two great parties for this city in 1908. At a special meeting of the Convention league held Monday afternoon this matter was decided.

Matter of Preference.

We believe the things we're most proud of are these.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, April 23, 1867.—The Corner Stone, The Baptist Society hope to get the corner stone of their new church laid next week with appropriate ceremonies, of which due notice will be given later.

Common Council.—A special meeting of the new Council was held last evening. His Honor the Mayor presiding, a full board being present. After the roll call the mayor submitted his message. The standing committees were announced and other organizational matters passed upon.

Then city officers were elected. It was necessary to take thirty-five ballots before a city attorney could be chosen and the honor was conferred on John Winans, Esq. While the number of ballots might indicate to outsiders that Mr. Winans was not the first choice of a majority of the council, we assure them that he was such choice and that different ballottings were only had by way of a pastime. During the past year Mr. W. has made an excellent and efficient officer, and he has always been prompt and obliging in the discharge of his duties. It is due to Mr. Merrill to say he was not a candidate, and that he was voted for without his knowledge or consent.

After it had been voted to have a city marshal and the salary of the office was set at $800 per annum eleven votes were taken and the last, which resulted in election, stood as follows: Gillet 5, Eager 1, Hill 1, Phelps 1.

EDGERTON IS STILL
BUSY WITH THE WEED

While Majority of the Forty Warehouses Have Finished Work Buying Not Yet Really Begun.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, April 23.—While the thousand tobacco workers have practically finished their winter's work and the exodus back to the farms for the summer has begun, the business interests of the city have not shown any decrease. The forty odd warehouses are pretty well filled with the "weed" that has made the city the commercial center for its product for many years.
What strikes the stranger visitor uninitiated in the business is, most formally, the fact that the warehouses are numbered. This is explained as being for insurance purposes, identification as it were. The Edgerton houses are not filled entirely with Rock county crops. The greater bulk of the tobacco now cased is from up north. Of course many of the crops are local products but a good deal of foreign tobacco is waiting sale here.
The ware house people do not look for any great increase in acreage this year throughout the state. As one man said yesterday "The growers are too wise to bull the market now.
They had a good year last year and know enough to guess prices will not be as high this year unless some unforeseen accident happens to crops elsewhere. The price of lumber is going to be a great drawback to the increase in acreage. It costs approximately $125 an acre for a tobacco shed and an increase in acreage means new buildings. Up north where the farmers can cut their own timber and saw it up into boards on five or six thousand acres but not around here.
They will grow other crops this year rather than take a chance of losing on tobacco by glutting the market."
This seemed to be the general opinion of the dealers generally. An eastern concern is to put up a new warehouse on Front street near the old depot and Thomas Earle has bought a large ware house further up the street but these are the only notable changes recorded this week. The hotel Charlton is still well filled with its regular guests and Andrew Erickson continues to be the popular meeting place to discuss the affairs of the tobacco world and mining interests. The Mexican mine in which many Edgerton capitalists are interested in, is one topic that is heard in hotel and on the street. Edgerton stock-holders expect to become millionaires from their vast supply of wealth and those not stock-holders tell funny stories of the value of mining stock for their benefit. One of them regarding the Englishman who witnessed a police game between several promoters of western stock saw them put up as collateral in the game several hundred thousand dollars worth of mining stock in their different mines and then when he was breathless at the immensity of the play saw them settle for fifty dollars cash. "They take the chaf-ling good naturally and hope for great results. Many of the tobacco men who will remain in Edgerton during the summer are planning to join the Sinnissippi golf club and run down once or twice a week for a day's sport on the links. Edgerton has already put on a spring gamb and the general prosperity of the city and its business interests is shown on every side.

WORSE EVERY YEAR

Plenty of Janesville Readers Have the Same Experience.

Don't neglect an aching back.
It will get worse every year.
Backache is really kidney ache.
To cure the back you must cure the kidneys.

If you don't, other kidney ills follow—

Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease.

A Janesville citizen tells you how
the cure is easy:

A Janesville citizen tell of a "WOD"
Thomas Burgess, millwright of 15 Park Ave., Janesville, Wis., makes the following statement concerning Doan's Kidney Pills:

"I had a pain in my back for nearly ten years. A dull ache and done-out feeling often completely laid me up. It was very bad at night, and I have awakened from a sound sleep feeling as if a ton weight was lying on my back, and for a few moments I would be afraid to move for fear of sharp shooting pains which usually struck me at such times and went to the very quick.
I had to use my hands and arms to turn over in bed; my back was weak.
The urine was in very bad shape also,
and gave me trouble at night as I had to get up a number of times to pass it. There was considerable sediment and the secretions were discolored. I had used a number of remedies at different times without apparent benefit. I at last decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box of the Peoples' Drug company, and soon after I began to use them I began to improve. In a few days the backache left me and as I continued the treatment the irregularities of the secretions were corrected and I have enjoyed better health ever since, having had no return of any form of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo,

States.

DR. H. E. ROBINSON

DIED UNEXPECTEDLY

Former Evansville Boy, Who Attained
Fame as Journalist in Missouri, Victim of Indigestion.

Evansville, April 22.—The many Evansville friends of Dr. Hamline E.
Robinson will be pained to learn of his death, which occurred at his home in Mayville, Missouri, Monday, April 15, acute indigestion being the immediate cause. He was sixty-two years of age and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ellen A. Terhune and Mrs.
Florence Hutchinson of Mayville and one brother, John Robinson of near Evansville. Mr. Robinson was a native of Vermont, but moved to Wisconsin with his parents in 1855, his father being a Methodist minister, and for more than thirty years was stationed at various places in southern Wisconsin. Mr. Robinson spent many of his boyhood days in Evansville and was a favorite among the students when attending the seminary here. In 1883 he offered his services to the government, joining Company F of the Sixteenth Wisconsin Infantry, and served until the close of the war. He then studied dentistry in Boston and practiced there for a short time, but by far the greater part of his life has been devoted to journalism. In 1870 he moved to Mayville, Missouri, and became editor of the Mayville Republican, and at the time of his demise was one of the best known and most popular newspaper men of that state. He was a brilliant student and was especially interested in scientific and historical works, having been president of the State Historical society of Missouri and was president of the Northwest Missouri Press association at the time of his death. The relatives have the sympathy of a host of friends in this vicinity.

John Robinson returned Friday from Mayville, Mo., having been called there by the sickness and death of his brother.

D. M. Palmer, president of the Palmer Land Co. of Chicago, was a guest of W. R. Phillips Saturday.

PLANS DRAWN FOR

A $50,000 HOME

To Be Erected by Herman E. Dick on His Twenty Acres of Property
Fronting on Washington Street.

Plans for a $50,000 home to be erected for Herman E. Dick, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Withington, on the Washington street property he purchased last fall, have been drawn by a Chicago architect. This real estate, which will be remembered, consists of 20 acres, eight from the Rexford tract located on the southwest corner of Magnolia avenue and Washington street and including the hedge and windmill, and twelve from the Palmer estate across the way and including an 800-foot frontage on the river. At the time the purchase was made Mr. Dick stated that it was his intention to build in the spring and the fact that the plans have now been completed is an indication that building operations will probably be commenced at an early date.

FULL OF SITUATIONS

"The Eye-Witness" Pleased a Good Sized Audience Assembled at the Myers Theatre Last Evening.

Lincoln J. Carter's newest thriller,
"The Eye Witness," was revealed to a fair-sized audience at the Myers theatre last evening. The sensational automobile "loop the loop" scene on the jack-knife bridge, the dive for life, and the cyclonic visitation, fairly crowded the play with incident, leaving no new horrors to be desired and fulfilling the mission of the stage as understood by this ingenious expert. The company was a good one and a fair sized and appreciative audience gave frequent testimony that the thrill waves had registered at the various receiving stations.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAYSON PHILLIPS

THE COST OF THE DELIVERANCE, ETC.

A long silence, then. "Sayler, have you heard anything of an attempt to defeat me for the nomination?"

"Goodrich has decided to nominate Gov. Ridgeway of Illinois," said I. He blushed and had to moisten his dry, wrinkled lips several times before he could speak. "A report of that nature reached me last Thursday," he went on. "For some time I have been perplexed by the Ridgeway talk in many of our organs. I have questioned Goodrich about it—and I must say—his explanations are not wholly satisfactory."

"I have come to the conclusion that you were right about Goodrich, Sayler. I am glad that I took your advice and never trusted him. I think you and I together will be too strong for him."

"You are going to seek a renomination?" I asked.

He looked at me in genuine astonishment. "It is impossible that the party should refuse me," he said.

"I was silent."

"Be frank with me, Sayler," he exclaimed at last. "Be frank. Be my friend, your own old self."

"As frank and as friendly as you have been," said I, rather to remind myself than to reproach him. For I was afraid of the reviving feeling of former years—the liking for his personal charms and virtues, the forbearance toward that weakness which he could no more change than he could change the color of his eyes. His moral descent had put no clear markings upon his face. On the contrary, he had grown in dignity through the custom of deference. The people passing us looked admiration at him, had a new sense of the elevation of the presidential office. Often it takes the trained and searching eye to detect in the majestic facade the evidences that the palace has degenerated into a rookery for pariahs.

"I have done what I thought for the best," he answered, never more direct and manly in manner. "I have always been afraid, been on guard, lest my personal fondness for you should betray me into yielding to you when I ought not. Perhaps I have erred at times, have leaned backward in my anxiety to be fair. But I had and have no fear of your not understanding. Our friendship is too long established, too well founded. And I do not doubt that he believed himself, the capacity for self-deception is rarely short of the demands upon it."

"It is unfortunate," I began. I was going to say it was unfortunate that no such anxieties had ever restrained him from yielding to Goodrich. But I didn't. The heart, instead, I finished my sentence with: "However, it is idle to hold a post-mortem on this case. The cause of death is unimportant. The fact of it is sufficient. No doubt you did the best you could, Mr. President."

My manner was that of finality. It forbade further discussion. He abandoned the finesse of negotiation.

"Harvey, I ask you, as a personal favor, to help me through this crisis," he said. "I ask you, my friend and my dead wife's friend."

No depth too low, no sentiment too sacred! Anger whirled up in me against this miserable, short-sighted self-seeker who had brought to a climax of spoliation my plans to guide the strong in developing the resources of the country. And I turned upon him, intending to overwhelm him with the truth about his treachery, about his attempt to destroy me. For I was now safe from his and Goodrich's vengeance—they had destroyed them.

A-Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman or child. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles of the plants. It is pure vegetable glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

"You—you and I together—can get a convention that will nominate me," he urged, hope and fear jostling each other to look pleadingly at me from his eyes.

"Possibly," I said. "But—of what use would that be?"

He sank back in the carriage, yellow-white and with trembling hands and eyelids. "Then you don't think I could be elected?" he asked in a broken, breathless way.

"For answer I could only shake my head. 'No matter who is the nominee,' I went on, after a moment, 'our party can't win.' I half-yielded to the impulse of sentimentality and turned to him appealingly. 'James,' said I, 'why don't you—right away—before the country sees you are to be denied a renomination—publicly announce that you won't take it in any circumstances? Why don't you devote the rest of your term to regaining your lost popularity? Every day has its throngs of opportunities for the man in the White House. Break boldly and openly with Goodrich and his crowd.'"

I saw and read the change in his face. My advice about the nomination—straightway—closed his mind against me; at the mention of Goodrich, his old notion of my jealousy revived. And I saw, too, that contact with and use of and subservience to corruption had so corrupted him that he had no longer any faith in any method not corrupt. In an instant I realized the full folly of what I was doing. I felt confident that by pursuing the line I had indicated he could so change the situation in the next few months that he would make it impossible for them to refuse to renominate him; might make it possible for him to be elected. But even if he had the wisdom to listen, where would he get the courage and the steadfastness to act? I gave him up finally and forever.

A man may lose his own character and still survive, and even go far. But if he lose belief in character as a force, he is damned. He could not survive in a community of scoundrels.

Burbank sat motionless and with closed eyes for a long time. I watched the people in the throng of carriages—hundreds of faces all turned toward him, all showing that mingled admiration, envy and awe which humanity gives its exalted great. "The president! The president!" I heard every few yards in excited undertones. "And hats were lifted, and once a crowd of enthusiastic partisans raised a cheer."

"The president!" I thought, with mournful irony. And I glanced at him.

Suddenly he was transformed by an expression the most frightful I have ever seen. It was the look of a despairing, weak, vicious thing, cornered, giving battle for its life—like a fox at bay before a pack of huge dogs. It was not Burbank—no, he was wholly unlike that. It was Burbank's ambition, interrupted at its meal by the relentless, sure-aiming hunter, Fate.

"For God's sake, Burbank!" I exclaimed. "All these people are watching us."

"To hell with them!" he ground out. "I tell you, Sayler, I will be nominated! And elected too, by God! I will not be thrown aside like an emptied orange-skin. I will show them that I am president!"

Those words, said by some men, in some tones, would have thrilled me. Said by him and in that tone and with that look, they made me shudder and shrink. Neither of us spoke again. When he dropped me at my hotel, he touched hands and smiled formally for appearances before the gaping, peeping, peering crowd. And as he drove away, how they cheered him—the man risen high above 80,000,000, alone on the mountain-peak, in the glorious sunshine of success. The president!

The next seven months were months of turmoil in the party and in the country—a turmoil of which I was a silent spectator, conspicuous by my silence. Burbank, the deepest passions of his nature rampant, had burst through the meshes of partisanship and the meshes of social and personal intimacies in which he, as a "good party man" and as the father of children with social aspirations and respectability, was entangled and bound down, with the desperate courage that comes from fear of destruction, he was trying to save himself.

But his only available instruments were all either Goodrich men or other kinds of machine-men; they owed nothing to him; they had nothing to fear from him—a falling king is a fallen king. Every project he devised for striking down his traitor friends and making himself popular was subtly turned by his cabinet or by the senate or by the press or by all three into something futile and ridiculous or contemptible. It was a complete demonstration of the silliness of the fiction that the president could be an autocrat if he chose. Even had Burbank seen through the fawnings and the flatteries of the traitors round him, and dismissed his cabinet, whatever men he might have put into it would not have attached themselves to his lost cause, but would have used their positions to ingratiate themselves with the power that had used and exhausted and discarded him.

He had the wisdom, or the timidity, to proceed, always with caution and safe legality and so to avoid impeachment and degradation. His chief attempts were, naturally, upon monopoly; they were slyly balked by his sly attorney general, and their failure was called by the press, and was believed by the people, the cause of the hard times which were just beginning to be acute. What made him such an easy victim to his lieutenants was not their craft, but the fact that he had lost his sense of right and wrong. A man of affairs may not, indeed will not, always steer by that compass; but he must have it aboard. Without it he cannot know how far off the course he is, or how to get back to it. No ship ever reached any port except that of failure and disgrace, unless it, in spite of all its tackings before the cross-winds of practical life, kept in the main to the compass and to the course.

His last stagger was—or seemed to be—an attempt to involve us in a war with Germany. I say "seemed to be" because I hesitate to ascribe a project as infamous to him, even when unbalanced by despair. The first ugly dispatch he ordered... his Goodrich secretary of state to send, somehow leaked to the newspapers before it could be put into cipher for transmission. It was not sent—for from the press of the entire country rose a clamor against "deliberate provocation of a nation with which we are, and wish to remain, at peace." He repudiated the dispatch and dismissed the secretary of state in disgrace to disgrace—the one stroke in his fight against Goodrich in which he got the advantage. But that advantage was too small, too doubtful and too late.

His name was not presented to the convention.

ROYALTY TAKEN FOR BEGGARS.

English King and Queen Have Funny Experience in Naples.

Naples, April 23.—The king and queen of England, who arrived here on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, spent Monday in sightseeing. They visited various points of interest in the city and incidentally had an experience which amused King Edward greatly, and which brought consternation to an unthinking monk.

The incident occurred in front of the Church of Santa Chiara. Their majesties approached with the intention of visiting the edifice, but found it closed, as the monks in charge were taking their midday meal. A member of the royal party knocked on the door for admittance. A monk came to the door, and thinking those outside were beggars did not trouble to open it, but called out: "Begone in peace; there is nothing for you here."

BLOODY WORK OF TERRORISTS.

Blow Up Russian Soldiers with Bomb and Steal $2,000.

Lodz, Russian Poland, April 23.—Thirty terrorists, armed with automatic pistols, held up a carriage in Rokic street Monday evening in which a portion of the funds derived from the government sale of spirituous liquor was being transported to the bank. The carriage was escorted by soldiers. The terrorists threw a bomb which destroyed the vehicle, killed three of the accompanying soldiers outright and mortally wounded five more as well as the coachman and the government employee who had the money in charge. They secured $2,000 and escaped.
